

CLIVE FURNESS (OC 1971 – 1978, OCA PRESIDENT 2018-2020)

Clive has been involved in the commodities and derivatives markets for 41 years having started life as a trader straight from school. After trading he moved into senior management of derivatives exchanges and for the last 20 years has run his own business advising on traded market infrastructure worldwide. In any spare time that he has, Clive is an accomplished guitarist and a less accomplished (but keen) surfer.

Under Clive's presidency, the OCA is now a valuable resource that the School is using. It is Clive's belief that this is the beginning and that there is more the OCA can do in this vein for the School and for OCs given the huge benefit of the Association as a professional and networking resource.

Clive is passionate about the need to prepare for the significant amount of change that we can expect in the workplace over the next 40 years. He believes that the OCA should provide such a framework for all its members by identifying and providing access to those organisations and people who are driving the process of preparing for change. His goal is to create a network that is populated by individuals who are prepared to lead and make the most of the digital revolution.