

KARIN SCHULTE (OE 1974-1987)

Karin has spent the majority of her career in Asia, starting in Japan on the JET programme, assisting Japanese teachers of English in Japanese schools, then moving to Hong Kong to undertake a management apprenticeship in the shipping and logistics industry. Five years later Karin moved to Australia to study an MBA and went into investment banking. As a private equity fund manager Karin moved back to Hong Kong before going to Singapore and working in the charity sector. Karin returned to the UK five years ago and is now involved with projects focusing on Gen Z and Millennials, as well as non-exec director roles.

In addition to her professional career and love of travel, Karin holds a passion for dance which begun at the Maureen Brown School of Dance in Caterham aged four years old. Karin is involved with Rambert, one of the oldest dance companies, on their Development board. Karin has recently taken on a Board Apprentice NED role with the Intellectual Property Office.
